Focusing on the Full Site Boundary

Where fencing, gates, locks and access control come together.

The Boundary & Access Day brings together the people, products and expertise involved in defining, securing and controlling site boundaries. Meet the people behind the products, standards and systems that shape site boundaries, discuss practical challenges and explore how these disciplines work together in practice.

Breakfast, lunch and refreshments will be provided throughout the day.

“

Projects increasingly require multiple disciplines to work together. Understanding how those disciplines contribute to the wider solution is becoming more important than ever.
